

MasterCard and Concur— A New Partnership

Introducing an easier T&E expense management service

MasterCard International Incorporated announces a new partnership with Concur Technologies, Inc. that streamlines the automation of the entire expense reporting process offering cost and time savings. Concur's automated expense reporting solutions are trusted by hundreds of organizations around the globe. Many "Global 500" companies—including two of the largest companies in the world—leverage the Concur and MasterCard alliance to take advantage of these benefits...

Streamlines your operations:

- Enables MasterCard transactions to be prepopulated into the web-based Concur Expense Service, increasing accuracy and productivity.
- Decreases exposure to fraud because all corporate travel policies, per diem rates, and audit rules are centralized.
- Integrates with your company's existing back-office systems.
- Allows your IT, accounting, and audit personnel to focus on mission-critical issues.

Cost savings for your company:

- Management can instantly access, approve, or audit any expense record. The MasterCard Corporate Card® helps reduce costs by simplifying the authorizing, tracking, purchasing, and reconciling processes for corporate T&E expenses.

- Enforces compliance with your company's spend policy before and after purchases.

Before purchases: use the controls to restrict merchant category codes; daily, weekly, or monthly spend amounts; or establish controls to limit the amount of spend.

After purchases: use audit controls, configurable by you, to identify expenses that violate your spend policy.

- Processing expense reports is simplified to accelerate employee reimbursement.
- Delivers the controls you need for compliance with Sarbanes-Oxley requirements.

With high availability and complete data security, Concur Expense Service gives your company the control to manage expenses and quickly realize ROI. Customers will see an immediate benefit by automating their expense reporting systems because MasterCard already delivers card programs that can seamlessly feed transaction data directly into the Concur Expense Service.

Customers that prefer to host and manage their expense solution in-house, can also license the Concur Expense Service software for on-premise deployment.
