

Now, A Flexible Solution to Manage All Employee Expenses...

MasterCard and Necho Join Forces to Deliver an Expense Management Solution that will Readily Accommodate Your Needs

It's a well documented fact that the right technology can readily streamline employee expense management. But for many organizations, the cost and difficulty in implementing and customizing an automated expense management tool can outweigh the benefits.

We have the answer.

Now, thanks to a new alliance between MasterCard International and Necho Systems Corp., the top choice of global companies for expense management solutions, your organization can benefit from a full suite of expense applications – operating on any platform, worldwide. This alliance allows organizations to automate and streamline the management of business expenses, including travel, purchasing, fleet, petty cash, employee relocations, and meeting expenditures. These combined resources can help your organization achieve double-digit reductions in discretionary expenses with quick returns on investment.

A Flexible Solution to Grow With Your Needs

The MasterCard/Necho expense management solution enables organizations to automate their travel, purchasing, and fleet needs – from pre-authorization to integration. By building and maintaining a direct pipeline into Necho's expense management software, MasterCard has enabled organizations using any of the MasterCard Corporate Payment Solutions card programs – including the MasterCard Corporate Card®, MasterCard Corporate Purchasing Card®, MasterCard Corporate Fleet Card®, and MasterCard Corporate Multi Card® – to access employee transaction data anytime, anywhere. This data will auto-populate into expense reports for easy reconciliation while enhancing productivity and control over general business expenses.

Necho expense management tools reinforce MasterCard's commitment to provide superior payment solutions for its customers. With web, ASP and IBM Lotus Domino™-based expense management automation applications, Necho offers organizations a choice of channels through which expenses can be processed.

Employees can automatically access MasterCard card transaction data, and create, and submit, reports via the Internet. The reports are validated against the organization's policies with rules, approvals, and routing inherent in the application. They are then seamlessly integrated with the organization's back-end systems, such as payroll or accounts payable.

The MasterCard/Necho expense management solution enables organizations to automate their travel, purchasing, and fleet needs – from pre-authorization to integration.

The flexibility of Necho expense management tools also means that your organization can take advantage of the benefits that adoption of the MasterCard Corporate Multi Card program can deliver. With the Corporate Multi Card, you can combine Fleet, Travel, and Purchasing Card capabilities onto a single card and all transaction data will be integrated into your Necho Expense Management Automation solution. No card is accepted in more places than the MasterCard Corporate Multi Card, and with automatic integration of transaction information into your expense system, it has never been easier to process, analyze, and manage employee spending.

A Powerful Tool to Control Employee Spending

By leveraging the resources of MasterCard and Necho, organizations gain the flexibility they need to automate their expense reporting processes. Necho applications allow for easy configuration of policies and rules, cost-effective integration to external systems, and deployment options (ASP or in-house) that do not compromise functionality. Necho software supports multiple languages, complex currency requirements, and legislative and tax issues.

The Resources to Achieve Optimal Results

There's much more to the strategic alliance of MasterCard and Necho than superior technology. We share a commitment to provide customers with the resources they need to achieve optimal results in their business operations. Necho helps customers achieve results not only through processing cost reductions, but also through business practice change. And, at every step of the way, your organization can access a wealth of MasterCard resources to help increase efficiency and bottom line results.

This powerful software solution can assist in reducing organizational expenses by way of:

- Automatic, simple policy compliance
- Improved control and management of overall expenditures
- Reduced processing costs
- Enhanced service and convenience to employees

To learn more about this exciting new alliance between MasterCard and Necho, and the benefits we can offer to your organization, contact your MasterCard representative today at 1.888.321.9119 or via email at e-B2B@mastercard.com.